

The University of Aruba Library expands its inventory thanks to the professors of UCF

The University of Aruba has just received a most welcome addition to its shelves, over fifty books donated by professors of the Rosen College of Hospitality Management of the University of Central Florida. This shipment of books is only the first of many that is expected by the visiting professors of UCF Duncan Dickson and Dr. Robin DiPietro, who are in Aruba for the semester teaching in the University of Aruba's dynamic new Hospitality and Tourism Management Studies (HTMA) program.

Assistant Librarian Felecita Croes and students Juan Garcia and Mandy Lopez were very happy to accept this initial donation, along with Dean Ryan Peterson, which was obtained by organizing a book drive amongst professors at the Rosen College in Orlando, Florida. The books are essential to the successful completion of the course of study here in Aruba, where students from around the Caribbean are now pursuing their Bachelor's Degrees in Hospitality Management. Dean Peterson and the students expressed heartfelt gratitude for these important learning tools that will be invaluable for them in obtaining their goals and will enhance the program being conducted in cooperation with the University of Central Florida.
